COINAGE OF SILVER.

It Has Been Stopped by the Government of India.

WILL AFFECT MANY COUNTRIES.

The United States Probably More Interested Than Any Foreign Power—A Long Conference Between the President and Secretary Carlisle on the Subject.

LONDON, June 27.—Telegrams received from Calcutta by the Anglo-Indian bankers here, state that the Indian government has stopped the coinage of silver for private account at the India mints.

The correspondence between the government of India and the India office has been issued. It opens with a letter from the India council, under date of March, 1892, urging the home government to aid in the settlement of the silver question by an international agreement, failing which, not to defer determining upon an Indian policy, as if an international agreement should not be obtained the United States might suddenly stop the coinage of silver, leaving India unprepared.

The other communications discuss the fall in the rupee values and the fluctuations in the rates of exchange.

The council in a letter written in June, 1892, advises that if the international monetary conference at Brussels fails and a direct agreement between India and the United States cannot be attained, the mints of India be closed to the free coinage of silver and a gold standard be introduced.

In a minute Mr. Barbour, financial secretary of India, opposes the stoppage of free coinage until it becomes evident that the United States will not adopt free coinage. Mr. Barbour estimates that the total active circulation in India amounts to 115,000,000 rupees, while a much larger proportion is hoarded.

To establish a gold currency, with a full legal tender currency composed entirely of gold, it would be necessary to withdraw from circulation 1,150,000,000 of rupees, replacing them by £77,000,000 sterling gold. He therefore contends that with a gold standard in India a large portion of the circulation must continue in silver, with silver a legal tender to any amount. If both metals be maintained in circulation, a gold coinage to the total amount of £15,000,000 will suffice.

Mr. Long, in a minute to the council in August, 1892, discussed the adoption of the gold standard, and concludes by suggesting that the ratio of conversion be about 1 to 20.

In a subsequent telegram from the Earl of Kimberley to the viceroy of India, dated June 7, 1893, the former announces the recommendations of the Herschell commission as adopted by the council at Simla. In advising the Indian government to exchange gold at the rate of 9d to the rupee, the commission says that the object is to guard against a considerable rise in the exchange. Hereafter the ratio ought to be raised if circumstances make it advisable.

HOW IT AFFECTS US.

Washington Authorities Greatly Worried Over the Announcement.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The president, Secretary Carlisle and the financial officers of the government generally received their first authentic news of the startling action of the government of India suspending silver coinage, through the press dispatches. There has been rumors on the subject earlier in the day, but they were passed upon as rumors only, though their substantial accuracy was not doubted.

When the reports of Mr. Gladstone's announcement in the house of commons and Lord Kimberley's statement in the house of lords were received the gravity of the situation became at once apparent. Mr. Carlisle immediately went over to the White House and for nearly two hours discussed the bearings of this action with the president without reaching any positive conclusion as to a line of action to be adopted. The conference was renewed at Woodley, the president's suburban retreat, later in the evening and was protracted until far in the night.

The circumstances are regarded as too serious to permit of any authentic expression of opinion as to the future policy of the United States until all the facts are fully digested. This much, however, can be stated with absolute confidence that the action of the India government in closing the India mints to free coinage of silver, is regarded by the United States as doing away with the necessity for reconvening the international monetary conference which was to have met in Brussels this fall.

It is not believed that this action was taken without express orders from the English government, which has general supervision and control over Indian affairs. During the session of the international monetary conference at Brussels last December, General Strachey, delegate of British India, in an address delivered before the conference, said:

"As an indication of the strange condition of affairs, it may be further mentioned that there has lately arisen in India a serious agitation on this subject, and that pressure has been put in the government to take direct action for the purpose of applying a remedy to the numerous evils which are regarded as being due to the fall in the value of the rupee, affecting not only the public finances and administration, but with equal severity numerous commercial, industrial and social interests; and among the remedies proposed and strongly advocated by many influential persons and authorities is the adoption by India of a gold standard and the suspension of the free coinage of silver at the India mints.

"In these circumstances the delegates of India have been instructed that while studying with the greatest care and good will in concert with our colleagues at the conference, every practical proposal suggested to ensure wider use of silver as currency, they are on no account to give any pledge that may interfere with the complete freedom of action of the government of India in respect to any measure affecting the currency of India it might desire to adopt."

In view of this announcement at the conference, the action of the Indian government was not altogether a surprise to treasury officials, though what its effect may be on future action of the United States can not be accurately gauged.

Information obtained from the treasury department shows that the world's product of silver during the last fiscal year was 152,000,000 ounces, of which the United States purchased 54,000,000 ounces outside of the silver used in the arts, which is estimated at about 7,000,000 ounces. The consumption by India was 45,000,000 ounces, which was coined, this making the United States and India combined use 109,000,000 ounces of silver purchased last year, leaving 46,000,000 ounces of silver for use in the arts in the other countries of the world.

The highest price ever attained by silver in the United States was the time of the passage of the Bland silver bill, Feb. 28, 1878, when the price was $1.22 per ounce. The silver dollar was then worth 96 cents. At no period since then has the silver dollar been worth so much. When the Sherman act went into effect August, 1890, there was a spurt in the price of silver, and it went up to $1.21 per ounce. In the time between the passage of the Bland law in 1878 and the passage of the Sherman law in 1890 silver went to 92 cents per ounce which was a maximum price during that period.

Since August, 1890, the price has gradually declined with fluctuations until June 26, 1893, it reached the lowest point on record. At yesterday's price of 79 cents per fine ounce, the silver dollar is worth 60 1-2 cents as bullion.

Since 1835 India has coined silver free. During the last calendar year the Indian government coined 46,000,000 ounces. Since the passage of the Bland and Sherman acts the United States have coined $426,000,000 of silver. Of the amount of silver purchased under the Sherman act 127,000,000 ounces remain uncoined in the vaults of the treasury.

Treasury officials opposed to the free coinage of silver, while admitting that this radical action by India will temporarily result to her disadvantage, believe that with a rich soil and 250,000,000 of people fairly productive after the reaction is over India will recover from the shock. It is pointed out that her exports of merchandise and cereals largely exceed her imports, and now that the value of the rupee, the current money of the country, is definitely fixed at 1 shilling and 4 pence (32 cents in our money), the loss which she has suffered heretofore in the fluctuations of value of the rupee will be done away with, and by many it is claimed that the large holdings of gold known to exist in India will soon begin to be brought from their hidingplaces and be converted into coin.

During the last 50 years the net imports of gold into India aggregated about $800,000,000.

In a report made to the Fiftieth congress by Mr. Edward Atkinson of Boston upon the present status of bimetalism in Europe, touching upon the import of gold into British India, he says: "Of the imports of gold, every small amount has been coined into domestic gold coin. The total coinage for the 50 years since 1835 amounts to not more than 2,353,399 rupees; the rest of the gold, about 1,276,000,000 rupees, has been used for ornament or has been hoarded in the form of British and Australian sovereigns by the richer natives, and in the treasuries of the Indian princes. The gold that once has flowed to India is lost, almost without exception, to trade. The natives are careful watchers of the bullion market and have not failed to note that in recent time the value of silver at the bazars has become less, as compared with gold. Ornaments and hoards of silver are less highly prized than in former years. In India, as elsewhere, gold is taking the place of silver."

These views of course represent only the anti-silver side of the question. The suddenness of the springing of this action has hardly yet given the silver advocates time to be heard.

Senator Stewart is at the present time almost the only prominent silver man in Washington. There is no question that this matter will come up for extended discussion in the next cabinet meeting. All the members except Secretary Gresham are in the city.

New York Dealer on the Subject.

NEW YORK, June 27.—A member of a large firm of bullion dealers said with regard to the closing of the India mints against private bullion: "I don't see how the action of the Indian government in closing the mints will much diminish the demand for silver in India. If the mints are closed to private persons then the government will have to import silver for coinage purposes in place of private parties. The only possible way in which India's demand for silver would be lessened would be by the cessation of the expansion of her exports in consequence of the low prices of silver. We do not see that, beyond sentiment, the silver market will be greatly affected."

ANARCHISTS FREED.

Fielden, Neebe and Schwab Released From Joliet.

PARDONED BY THE GOVERNOR.

His Action Has Created a Great Surprise. He Has Prepared a Statement, But It Has Not Been Made Public—Great Rejoicing in New York City.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 27.—Anarchists Fielden, Neebe and Schwab have been pardoned by Governor Altgeld. These were three of the murderous gang which threw the bombs in the Haymarket riot in 1886, killing the police. The rest met death on the scaffold. Lingg blew his own head off with a bomb while in prison.

Fielden and Schwab were sentenced to be hanged with Spies, Fisher, Lingg and Engel, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment. Neebe was sentenced to a term of 14 years' imprisonment. Ben Butler took the case of those just liberated through the higher courts.

Banker E. S. Dreyer, who has been interested in their case from the start, came down from Chicago, and after securing a pardon for each of them from the hands of Governor Altgeld left with them for Joliet. It is supposed Mr. Dreyer's influence was decisive. It was not even known that the case was being considered by the governor and his action created great surprise.

The governor has prepared a long statement, and Railroad Commissioner Cantrall left with copies of it for Chicago press. It has not yet been given out here, but it is said the governor criticises Gary and Bonfield severely.

Their Leading Lawyer Talks.

CHICAGO, June 27.—"I am exceedingly gratified but not at all surprised," said Captain W. P. Black, who was the leading counsel for the defense in the anarchist trial, in speaking about the governor's decision. "I have always believed that in the interest of justice these men would be pardoned. I knew that as soon as the public conscience had recovered its tone and the public its judgment they would be restored to liberty. I have only been disappointed in the length of time it has taken to bring about this result, although I have no complaint to make on that score considering the time Governor Altgeld has taken in his consideration of the facts. It is about 90 days since I sent to the governor my views of the matter and the reasons why I believed a pardon would only be an act of simple justice. I am very glad that justice has at last been done."

New York Anarchists Rejoicing.

NEW YORK, June 27.—There was great rejoicing among the anarchists on the East Side last night. Men and women shouted with joy when they heard that the three anarchists had been pardoned by Governor Altgeld of Illinois. Large placards announcing the pardon of the convicted anarchists were posted within and without the saloons where the "reds" have their headquarters.

INDIAN MOUND OPENED.

Several Indian Skeletons and Relics of Great Antiquity Unearthed.

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 27.—The large historic mound that stands near the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, about half a mile above Taggart Creek, Ky., on the James King farm, has at last been opened. This mound is the largest of a group of seven which stand close to each other. For years the people of Kentucky and surrounding states have wondered what it contained, but permission could never be obtained before. The first find was a large block of mica cut in the shape of a triangle. This was only one foot under the surface, and directly under it were two finely finished broken bowls. These evidently contained food, as there were several small bones and shells mixed in them. Nine inches beneath the bowls in a deep bed of charcoal was found the first skeleton. Its position was north and south. Near the hip was a copper badge covered with cloth made of bark, which the salts of the copper had preserved. Near the left shoulder was a fine lance nearly six inches long, and a little to the left was a finely finished spear.

Another skeleton was found a little farther to the south. No relics were found with the same, it being a female skeleton.

Twelve feet of earth was removed below these burials before the last skeleton was uncovered. From the number of relics and the way he had been buried he was a chief of great importance. The body had been laid with the head in a northeast direction, upon a deep bed of ashes and charcoal, and had been inclosed in a box made of broken limbs and branches of trees. The impression of these could still be seen in the soil where they had decayed.

Under each knee had been dug a hole, each of which would hold a gallon. They were filled with red ashes and burnt bones. Around the neck was a string of 67 fine pearl beads, and another string of 400 fine ivory beads. Around the left arm was a thin copper bracelet, and on the right arm were three large copper bracelets. Under the hands were several small pieces of copper that had evidently been beads.

The finest piece of all laid upon the front of the skull. It was a hammered piece of copper in the shape of a swan. This had rotted in the center, but was easily put together. The copper was hammered out of the raw metal, and showed great age. Around the hips were nearly 1,400 very small bone beads, which were greatly decayed.

The whole body had evidently been covered with a mantle made of a grass of some kind, as several small pieces had been preserved that laid upon the copper.

The bones, as they laid, measured a little over 6 feet 4 inches. In life the dead must have been a very large man. From the condition of the teeth and part of the skull he was probably 40 years old at the time of demise. The original mound had been but eight feet high, for at that height was a dark streak throughout the mound of decayed grass and roots, and a decayed stump of an oak tree extended from here up that had been over four feet through the center.

This shows that the upper six feet and burial might have been placed there at least 30 years later than the first burial. All of the bones were very black and showed great age.

HOTEL COLLAPSED.

One Hundred Guests in the Building at the Time.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., June 27.—The Tremont hotel in this city collapsed in the morning at 9:30 o'clock without warning to the 100 occupants. The house was four stories high, built of brick, and the entire east wall fell, followed by the three floors and all their load of human life.

Ensie Colwell of Kincaid, Kan., and Ida Morris were badly injured.

Twenty-seven occupants were taken from the second story on the west side by means of ladders, and others escaped through the regular exits.

Almond Woodard, son of the proprietor, was in the diningroom when the crash came and was carried out through the door, but was not fatally injured.

A 4-story mansard roof had just been added, and it is supposed the additional weight was too heavy for the side walls and foundation.

OUTCAST JEWS.

The Seligmans Preparing an Asylum For Russian Exiles in West Virginia.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 27.—A wealthy syndicate of New York Jews, headed by Seligman, the bankers, have purchased about 20,000 acres of land in Tucker county, upon which they propose to locate a colony composed of Jewish exiles driven from Russia. The purchases have been going on for some time very quietly, and it was not until Thursday, when the homestead of the late Dr. Harper, consisting of a large house, a number of outbuildings and 4,200 acres of land was sold, that either the purchasers or their projects became known. The buildings upon the Harper place alone cost $7,500, but both the land and the buildings were sold for $5,000. It is stated that the homestead will be enlarged and used as a receiving house until the land can be divided off into plots, cottages built and the full arrangements made for perfecting the colonization scheme of the projectors.

AWFUL DEATH.

Molten Iron Kills Six Men and Injures Seven Others.

BERLIN, June 27.—A terrible calamity occurred in Rohig's ironworks, at Magdeburg, Saxony. The workmen were engaged in making a heavy casting and were pouring the molten metal into the mold.

Without a moment's warning there occurred a terrific explosion, the liquid iron flying in every direction and covering the workmen. Six men were killed outright, while seven others were so terribly burned that their recovery is despaired of. It is believed that the sand in the mold was dampened and this caused the explosion.

FIENDISH ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

A Man Thrown Into a Mortar Bed and His Eyes Burned Out.

ASHTABULA, O., June 27.—A fiendish attempt at murder was made here. William Waldeck, a baker doing a large business, undertook to collect for goods sold one Reed and his two sons who kept a restaurant at the Harbor. A row ensued, and the Reeds threw Waldeck face downward into a large vat of mortar, and kept him there until help came.

Waldeck was nearly strangled, and swallowed a large quantity of mortar, which burned him terribly internally. The sight of one eye is destroyed and the other is probably lost. Waldeck is alive, but is suffering terribly. Two of his assailants were captured.

Small Collision.

XENIA, O., June 27.—A bad collision occurred on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad in this city at the foot of Second street near the little elevator. Freight No. 43, westbound, crashed into a caboose on a siding, wrecking several cars. No one was hurt. Traffic was delayed three hours.

Two Prize Fights.

ROBY, Ind., June 27.—At the Columbus Athletic club last night Peter Maher of Ireland knocked out Val Flood of Australia in the fourth round. Hugh Napier of Australia, in a finish contest with Bobby Burns of Providence, gave that pug his quietus in the eighth round.

Now Asking Damages.

COLUMBUS, O., June 27.—Miss Hattie Pullinger has filed suit for $10,000 damages against Mr. Lane, a member of the firm of Z. L. White & Company, who accused her of shoplifting last week.

Hidden For Fifteen Hours.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 27.—Imperial Raffale, the Italian who fatally stabbed Antonio Rosos, was captured in a lumber pile, where he had been in hiding for 15 hours.

AFFAIRS OF HAWAII.

Another Steamer Arrives From Honolulu.

ADVICES BROUGHT TO JUNE 19.

Much Disappointment Over Our Indecision—The Annexationists Are Still Hopeful—Claus Spreckels's Recent Actions—Fears of Dynamite and Violence.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The steamer China has arrived, bringing advices from Honolulu up to June 19, as follows:

As each successive steamer from San Francisco arrives at Honolulu, bringing no news that Hawaii's affairs will soon be settled by the United States, the disappointment that permeates annexationists and royalists alike becomes keener. Both parties are anxious to have the vital questions of stable government decided as soon as possible. The long strain is beginning to tell on business and society. Merchants are complaining of dull times, but are hanging on hopefully, while for the first time in Honolulu social lines are beginning to be drawn. In this small community politics heretofore have never interfered with social life.

Claus Spreckels has won the first skirmish in the fight against The Star, the annexationist organ. Walter G. Smith of the paper has been held for trial to answer a charge of criminal libel. Smith was released on $800 bail and is again running the paper, but is letting Spreckels alone, pending the result of the libel suit. Spreckels is now on the warpath against the provisional government, and though he has as yet made no move, disquieting rumors are being circulated as to his intention of pinching business men who are unfortunate enough to be under financial obligation to him. The advisability of taking away from Spreckels' Oceanic Steamship company the mail subsidy of $100 per month and giving it to the Canadian Pacific or Pacific Mail, is still being considered by the government.

Paul Neumann, the ex-queen's legal adviser, returned from the United States a few days after the publication of the power of attorney given him when he went to Washington to fight annexation. He treats the matter of its publication here very lightly, and says there never has been any secret as to the contents of the documents. He is still opposed to annexation, and thinks that the protectorate, with whatever form of government a majority of the people vote, is best for Hawaii. The annexationists are making great capital of what they consider the evidence of the ex-queen's weakness and selfishness. Thousands of copies of the power of attorney, printed in the Hawaiian language, have been circulated among all the islands with the result, it is claimed, that the natives are flocking to the annexationists' standard in greater numbers than ever before.

The man who stole the crown jewels has been discovered in the person of George Ryan, an ex-soldier of the provisional army who was dishonorably discharged last month for misbehavior. Ryan was on guard at the time the jewels were stolen. When he was arrested a few days ago a number of the precious stones were found in his possession.

As a result of the recent dynamite scare the provisional government has passed a law fixing the penalty for the unlawful use of explosives at a fine from $250 to $5,000 and imprisonment not to exceed 20 years. The unlawful possession of explosives will be punished by a maximum fine of $3,000 and imprisonment for five years. The palace which was occupied by the government two weeks ago, has been still further protected by placing of sand-bag barricades at exposed points. Arms and ammunition have been served out to a secret organization called "The Citizens' Reserve," which numbers about 600 men. Claus Spreckels has been accused of offering to purchase arms for royalists, and extra guards will be posted at outside ports to prevent their being landed. If the government ascertains that its information is correct, Spreckels is likely to receive some harsh treatment.

The government claims to have authentic information that Mr. Blount, with the exception of a few brief statements, has not yet made a report to the state department at Washington as to the result of his investigation, and that a report will not be sent on for two weeks. The government has decided to do nothing further in the matter of a treaty until information is received from Thurston as to the result of his interview with President Cleveland.

A special steamer arrived June 18 from Japan with over 700 Japanese contract laborers brought here to work on the sugar plantations. The Pacific Mail steamship China, said to be the largest vessel in the Pacific waters, entered Honolulu harbor for the first time this morning. The provisional government ordered a salute fired in honor of the event.

THE charter for fourth class cities still hangs fire in the Legislature, and next Monday is the day fixed for adjournment.

How much longer will cities of the fourth class have to wait for a new charter? Is there some scheme in delaying action on the bill now pending?

OHIO Republicans are already trying to comfort themselves with the statement that the Buckeye State is all right this year. But when they think of the election last fall it takes lots of whistling to keep up their courage.

THE attendance at the World's Fair on Sundays continues to dwindle. Last Sunday the admissions, free and paid, scarcely reached 40,000, and it is said the grounds had "a deserted appearance." Where were all "the working people?"

CHICAGO doesn't intend to allow any counter attractions to her big show. Her police jailed an evangelist last week who was conducting an open-air religious meeting. If the man had been operating a robbing scheme, he would probably have not been molested.

LAST summer the departments at Washington City were furnished ice at 17 cents per 100 pounds. This year the dealers combined and demanded 35 cents per 100 pounds. Result: A Philadelphia company will furnish the ice. This is a good way to freeze out combines.

It has been discovered at last why ex-Labor Commissioner Peck of New York, the Republican pet, forfeited his bail a few days ago and skipped out to Europe. The Courier-Journal says he will act as correspondent of a protection newspaper syndicate. There's nothing in the way of figures that Mr. Peck can't furnish.

WILLIAM McDONALD was placed in the office of State Inspector of Workshops and Factories by Governor McKinley of Ohio a few years ago. Recently it was found that he had stolen nearly $5,000 from the State Treasury. The proof was positive against him, but he was allowed to resign. He made good the money, but no steps to prosecute him have yet been taken.

THE appointment of Ben Johnson last week to be Collector of the Louisville district was a "knock-out" of the Courier-Journal crowd. Here's the way it tried to explain things: "But it seems that Judge Lindsay felt that his re-election depended upon the appointment of Mr. Johnson, and as the President appears to have entered into an agreement with Judge Lindsay to secure his re-election, his wishes prevailed, even over those of the Secretary of the Treasury."

This is the second time within a year that Judge Lindsay has downed the "gang." And he's ready for 'em again.

THE Indianapolis Journal says: "In 1880 the amount of United States bonds held in Europe was $537,000,000. It is estimated from the checks for interest on bonds sent abroad that $18,500,000 of the national securities are now held abroad. This is one of the results of the Republican policy." "In other words," says the Louisville Post, "the Republican policy forced the return of American securities. To pay for them the country's gold reserve has been depleted, money has been scarce and high and times hard. What a good thing it would be if we could induce Europe again to take $500,000,000 of our securities and send us gold for them. The country was not ready to pay that debt, but because of Republican legislation there has been a run on our gold. But why should a Republican journal glory in it?"

A SHADE TREE.

It Was Cut Down and a Law Suit Followed—An Interesting Case in Court.

The case of Dora against Bauder, which has been on trial in the Circuit Court for several days, went to the jury late yesterday afternoon.

The case is a little out of the ordinary. The plaintiffs M. O. Dora and wife owned a house and lot on the east side of Lime-stone street, south of Fourth. At the edge of the pavement in front had stood a handsome shade tree for years, but sometime early last summer it was cut down by Charles Bauder.

Mr. Bauder claimed he was acting under the orders of Street Commissioner James Hasson, and Mr. Hasson claimed he had orders from the City Council to remove the tree.

Suit was brought against Mr. Bauder for $500 damages. He had the city made a co-defendant, but there was no record showing that the tree had been declared a nuisance or that Council had ordered it to be cut down, and the case was dismissed as far as the city was concerned. Both sides were ably represented, Judge Coons, Mr. George R. Gill and Mr. L. W. Galbraith being the attorneys for plaintiffs, while Judge Cole and Mr. Thomas M. Wood represented defendants.

It was argued by defendants' attorneys that the city owned the street and pavement and had a right to cut the tree down, but the court ruled that the property-owner has a fee simple to the middle of the street, the city only having an easement in the street.

The jury was instructed to find for plaintiffs.

Mr. Jas. Hasson was a co-defendant in the suit. The jury reported a verdict against him and Mr. Bauder this morning, fixing the damages at $50.

Scearce's Forgeries.

A statement of the forgeries of F. P. Scearce, of Lexington, has been prepared. The total is placed at $31,570, the list being as follows: Fayette National Bank, $400; First National Bank, $900; W. D. Bryant, $1,700; Blue Grass Building Association, $3,400; Robert Stone and G. B. Kinkead, $3,200; Deposit Building and Loan Association, $1,500; Forest Hill Land Company, $1,500; H. Bedford, $3,100; Fayette Building Association, $2,500; Security Trust Company, $1,200; Wm. Pettit, $1,500; W. F. Shelby, $1,500; R. E. Edmonson and Mrs. Rozelle, $1,300; Captain A. H. Goodloe, $2,800; Mrs. Veach, $1,000; W. D. Kneffler, $300; Smith Bowman, $600; T. H. McMichael, $500; Judge R. A. Buckner, $400; C. F. Brower, $300; John Hutchison, $300; Berkley, Guthrie & Watson, $150; an unknown creditor, $1,500; Bell & Glenn, $15; Warren Frazier, $60; The J. N. Wilson Company, $65; James M. Byrnes, $35; Barkley Brothers, $15; Frost & Edge, $30; total, $31,570.

Of the above indebtedness, the items of the Deposit Building Association, Forest Hill Land Company, Security Trust Company and Captain Goodloe, all amounting to $7,000, are secured. The others will be almost total losses to the creditors.

Must Be Able to Read.

Circuit Judge Green in a murder trial at Williamstown decided that not being able to read disqualified a person from sitting on a jury. It is the first time the question has been raised, we believe. Section 225 of the Criminal Code provides, "The court shall, on motion of either party, and before argument to the jury, instruct the jury on the law applicable to the case, which shall always be given in writing." Congressman Dickerson made the point that each jurymen should be able to read the instructions himself and if he could not do this he was disqualified as a jurymen. The Judge sustained the objection.

MISS DOLLY ROSE, of Manchester, ran a needle in one of her feet nineteen years ago, but it was thought that all of it was removed at the time. Three years ago she became an invalid, and physicians were unable to give her any relief. Recently she told a friend that there was certainly a splinter in her side, as she felt something there. An examination by the lady resulted in the discovery of the point of a needle penetrating the flesh in the left side just below the ribs. The particle of a needle was removed which proved to be a half inch in length. It had spent nineteen years in its travel from the young lady's foot where it entered to her side where it was removed.

Deceased was fifty-seven years of age, and leaves a wife and two children. His remains will be interred at Mayslick this afternoon.

TRAGEDY AT PARIS.

A Wealthy Merchant Shoots and Kills His Brother-in-Law—A Suicide Recalled.

R. B. Hutchcraft, a wealthy commission merchant of Paris, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Dan Stuart, of Muir Station, at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Stuart's wife suicided last July by shooting herself. Suspicion of foul play caused Stuart's arrest but he was discharged. Stuart's wife wrote letters to Hutchcraft, her brother, before her death, alleging cruelty at the hands of her husband.

Stuart endeavored Monday morning to gain possession of the letters, threatened Hutchcraft's life, and struck him three times with a loaded cane.

Hutchcraft then shot Stuart three times, once through the head, through the right arm and the right lung.

Stuart died shortly afterward. Hutchcraft was unconscious for some time from the heavy blows received.

KLINE TRAGEDY AT INDIANAPOLIS.

It Remains a Mystery, With but Little Hope of Being Solved.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27.—William Kline of Brightwood, who was hacked with a hatchet last week, is now able to talk for brief periods. He has said many things to his physician, relatives and friends, but has not told who attempted to assassinate him. The assault upon him is almost the only topic of conversation.

Some of the gossip is of the opinion that the smaller cuts were made with a knife, or, perhaps, with a pair of scissors found in the bedroom, and which have upon them spots of rust.

The part of the brain that was penetrated and which is exposed is decomposing and gradually sloughing away. The physicians say Kline cannot be himself again intellectually, and his memory may be so affected as to make it impossible to recall incidents just preceding the attack.

New theories are being built up daily. The injured man's brother Mike advances this one: Before he (Mike) joined the regular army, four or five years ago, he was paying affectionate attention to a certain young woman. While he was on duty away west another young man endeavored to supplant him in the woman's affections, and succeeded so far as to become engaged to her. He had bought a house and was getting it ready for housekeeping when Mike returned home. This kindled the old love anew, and the engagement was broken and the woman became Mike's wife. It is said that the second husband vowed that he would kill the man who married his one-time fiancée. This man lives in the city.

The injured man is still improving, and is eating more. There is no mistaking what he wants and when he wants it. He is showing a liking for beef extract with egg broken into it. Reporters and other visitors are prohibited from seeing him, Mrs. Kline says, by doctor's orders. The nervous excitement, she says, is too much for him, and he suffered something like a spasm yesterday. Mrs. Kline states also that she has been advised not to talk further to reporters, except to report the condition of her husband. "I have told them all I know about it, and it's no use telling it over and over again. I can't tell them anything different to what I have told them."

One story is that Mrs. Kline sent her children out that morning to pick flowers, and when they returned sent them out again. The three little ones were seen playing under the trees, and Belle, the eldest, a very bright child of 8 years, was asked about it. "No, mamma didn't send us. We asked her if we could go and pick some flowers. She said yes, and we went and picked a big bouquet and took it home, and then went to get another bouquet. Pretty soon the baby got tired and wanted to go home to go to sleep, and we was taking him home when Mr. Harding, who was running past, told us our father was nearly killed."

Mrs. Kline stated that she does not read the newspapers and doesn't know what they are saying. "Now," she added, "there's a rumor going around that there was a watch in the bedroom. That's not true. When Will gave me his money I put it in my bosom here, where it is now. When I was in the bedroom in the morning I noticed my brother-in-law's gold watch and my necklace in the trunk, and I thought something might happen to them, so I took them out and put them inside my dress with the money. My husband has no watch."

Another story is that Kline was reported to have made some remarks relative to a certain girl of the town, and that although Kline vigorously denied the truth of the report, the father of the girl swore vengeance upon him.

NEW HAMPSHIRE HEARD FROM.

Her State Building at the World's Fair Dedicated.

CHICAGO, June 27.—With appropriate and interesting ceremonies the New Hampshire state building was opened. Governor John B. Smith and staff and about 75 prominent citizens of New Hampshire arrived in Chicago a week ago and have been seeing the fair. Since that time the party has been increased by the arrival of members of the legislature, state officials and others.

Governor Smith and the members of the New Hampshire delegation left the Auditorium hotel in a carriage and entered the fair grounds at the Fifty-sixth street gate. Governor Smith's military escort was the Amoskeag veterans, about 150 in number.

The building was decorated extensively with bunting and flags, and the Iowa State band played a patriotic air when the party left the building. In a short address E. N. Shaw, executive commissioner, delivered the keys of the building to C. M. Amesen, president of the board of commissioners, who then tendered them to Governor Smith in an entertaining talk.

Governor Smith in answer delivered an address full of patriotic thoughts. He was followed by Lieutenant Governor McLane and others. At the conclusion of the exercises the governor was tendered a complimentary reception. The building was filled with people, many besides natives of the state being in attendance.

The building is a very attractive one, and a type of the magnificent scenery of the state has been reproduced in miniature on the second floor, lighted by electricity and producing an effect with which no painting could compare in vividness.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

Furnished by the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company.

The absence from the city of several of our regular buyers lessened the competition somewhat, and made the bidding appear less active, though there was really but little difference in prices from the previous week, and trashes and tips, in fact low grades in general, continued to bring very satisfactory prices. Only a small proportion of better goods were offered, and while some of the owners of the latter kind were disappointed at the prices, others expressed entire satisfaction at the results. With a full attendance of buyers, which we may expect this week, we look for quicker bidding.

The outlook for the future doesn't seem to be improving, and as the season advances it appears more useless than ever to continue holding; indeed, the unusually light sales of the past three months have kept in first hands such large amounts of tobacco, that the supplies will certainly be very full during the comparatively short period which remains, before the new crop will make its appearance on our breaks. We therefore again urge our friends not to carry too large a portion of their purchase, but be in market with at least that part of the same which can be sold at the present figures. It should not be overlooked that while the price of tobacco may appear too low by way of comparison with recent years, it is still incomparably higher than any other produce.

The offerings during the week were 733 hhds: rejections, 191 hhds; actual sales, 542 hhds; receipts 1,538 hhds. Sales for this week will be as follows: First, Miami; second, Globe; fourth, Bodmann; sixth, Cincinnati; seventh, Walker; eighth, Morris.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
